

Assessment Plan for the 2012 – 2015

MASTERS DEGREE IN CRIMINOLOGY

The vision of the Master's Degree in Criminology implies the holistic education of professionals in social areas as future change agents for the scientific study of crime in the spirit of preventing this type of social manifestations, as well to provide healthier environments for coexistence.

Assessment under the broad lines of implementation and knowledge generation of the full program of the Master's Degree in Criminology is the guiding principle we're proposing for this work plan:

- 1) Analysis of the psychological factors that are involved in committing a crime and its impact on the design of strategies for its prevention starting from the diagnosis.

Courses directly involved:

- a) Psychopathology Seminar
- b) Criminal Socio-psychology Seminar
- c) Criminology Seminar

- 2) Analysis of the criminal policy and its effectiveness in controlling delinquency.
Courses directly involved:

- a) Criminal Policy and the Theory of Crime
- b) International Criminal Policy
- c) Public Security and the Community

- 3) Analysis of the administration of justice and the models of rehabilitation in Mexico. Courses directly involved:

- a) Administration of Justice & Public Security
- b) Prison Systems Seminar
- c) Victimology

The knowledge, skills, and attitudes may be evaluated through a variety of instruments: observation, oral or writing examination, surveys and interviews, rubrics for essays, summary, comments of readings, presentations in class, etc.
