Master's Degree in Education

2012 – 2015 Assessment Plan

The mission of the Master's Degree in Education is focused on the preparation and continuing development of education for faculty and administrators in the necessary competencies to serve as change agents and promoters of the educational model focused on the person, meaningful learning, and the universal values in order for them to have the capacity to improve the quality of the different levels of education in which they participate.

In order to comply with an institutional commitment regarding student assessment during 2010, some of the institutional learning outcomes were measured; however, the ones from the different graduate programs are still pending. For that reason, the Coordination of the Master's program in Education proposes that in the next three years, from January 2012, we start an assessment exercise to measure the learning outcomes contained in the 9 courses of the Common Axis and the Terminal Axis of the program, which are distributed in 5 modules:

Module 1.- Educational models

COURSE: Education for the XXI Century

Educational Psychology

Module 2.- Educational Planning

COURSE: Curriculum and instructional Development

Educational Administration

Module 3.- Learning Facilitation

COURSES: Learning Facilitation

General Didactics

Learning Mediated by Technology

Module 4.- Assessment

COURSE: Educational assessment

Module 5.- Educational research

COURSES: Educational Research

Integrating Seminar

The knowledge, skills, and attitudes may be evaluated through a variety of instruments: observations, oral or writing examinations, surveys and interviews, rubrics for essays, summaries and comments of readings, presentations in class, etc.
